

Personalized recommendations to reduce your bill

The Citizens Utility Board (CUB) of Minnesota is a nonprofit organization based in St. Paul that advocates for affordable, reliable and clean energy. As a consumer advocate, CUB provides free energy bill consultations to Minnesota consumers.

A consultation saves the average household $150 in the first year. People who have higher-than-average bills can save much more.

Individuals provide copies of their natural gas and electric bills, and CUB's expert staff will:

- highlight ways to reduce energy consumption,
- share information about programs and rebates, and
- provide information on income-based assistance.

Consumers can bring any questions or concerns they may have about their household energy bills.

A consultation can be done via phone or video call, and it takes about 30 minutes.

The service is available to all Minnesota residents, free of charge.
